DEDICATION

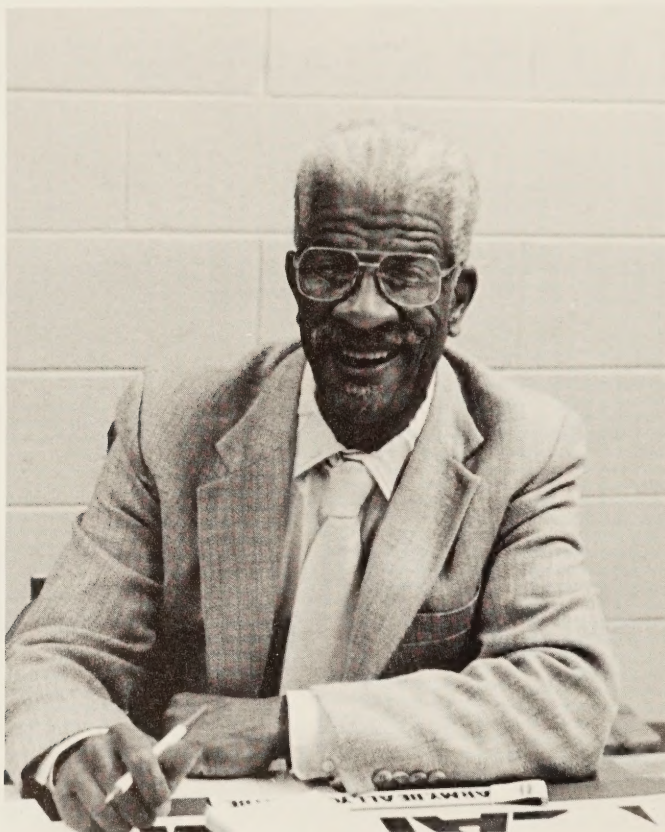

Be not afraid of greatness:

Some are born great,

Some achieve greatness,

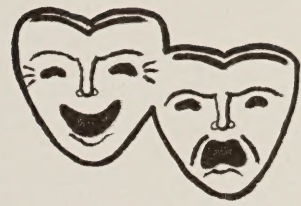

And some have greatness thrust upon them.

Shakespeare, Twelfth-Night

JOSEPH R. GRAHAM, JR.

The yearbook staff dedicates The Generals 1989 to Joseph R. Graham, Jr., who for thirty-four years has served Westmoreland County Schools as teacher and principal. Many are those who have benefited from his instruction, guidance, and advice. We thank him for being our mentor and friend.

Behind the Scenes

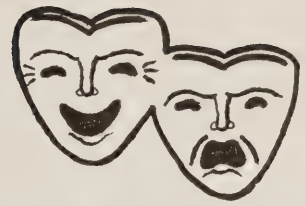

*If all the year were playing holidays,
To sport would be as tedious as to work.*

Shakespeare, Henry IV

W&L students and faculty share an inherent zest for enjoying life.
Whether in the classroom, hall, or cafeteria, they manage to create time to gossip, joke, and clown around.

Stage Crew

FACULTY

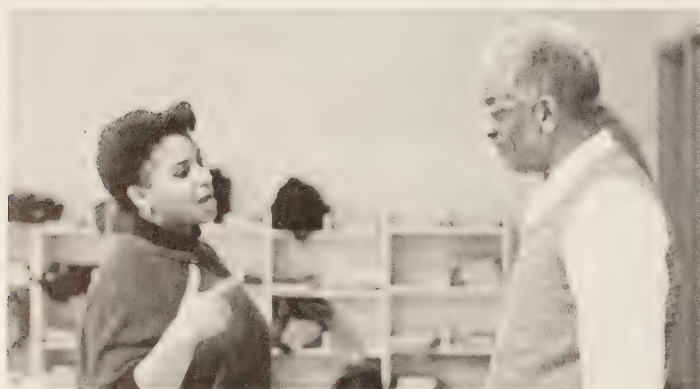

PRINCIPALS

And one man in his time plays many parts.

Shakespeare, As You Like It

Principal Joseph Graham and Assistant Principal Charles Boyd exhibit versatility at its best. Among their many roles are disciplinarian, chauffeur, substitute teacher, exchequer, and diplomat. Whether dealing with students or interacting with members of the community, they demonstrate a consistent concern for the well-being of all.

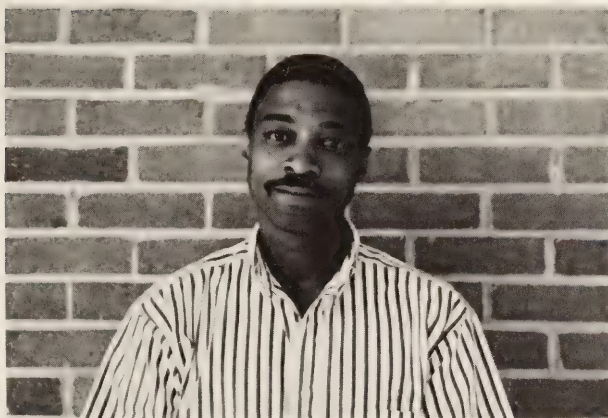

Men of few words are the best men.

HIGH SCHOOL RINGS

Washington & Lee students are asking for another high school ring. They now have a choice at Courtney's Jewelers in Warsaw.

Don't settle for a high school ring you don't really like or want. You don't have to buy it.

You can come to Courtney's and get exactly what you want for less money than the high schools are charging for high school rings on an average.

So why buy a ring you don't want when you have a choice at

SPORTS

UPS AND DOWNS

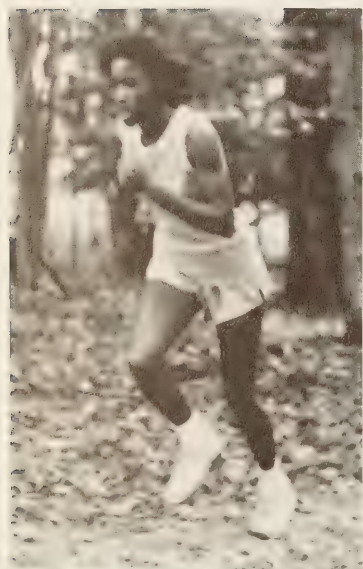

Make haste; the better foot before.

Shakespeare, King John IV

This year's Cross Country team was like the courses it ran — up and down. Coach Gill Williams (right) explains, "In another sport, 'Lady Luck' might get you through it, but not in cross country. You have to pay the price of hard training to be successful in the running sport, and the cost of admission is the same for everyone."

The Eagles trained hard this season, and in the end it paid off. The Lady Eagles won first place in the district. In individual competition, they swept the district receiving the first five places (top right).

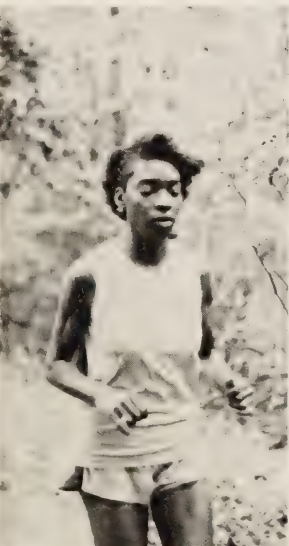

Tiffany Parker captured first place in the district and second in the region (top left). Amanda Plummer finished right behind her getting second in district, third in region, and seventh place at the UVA state meet (top right). Stacy Redman (bottom right), Stefanie Redman (bottom center) and Cassandra Johnson (bottom left) won third, fourth, and fifth places in the district respectively.

Jim Tilley, who was the only young man to finish the season, got a trophy for being the fastest runner in the district and the third fastest in the region (middle left). Coach Williams is looking for new blood next season because most of the team graduates this year.

FRONT: Amanda Plummer, Stacy Redman, Stefanie Redman; BACK: Tiffany Parker, Caroline Anderson, Cassandra Johnson, James Tilley

COURTLY VICTORIES

What's in a name? That which we call a rose

By any other name would smell as sweet. Shakespeare, Romeo and Juliet

On August 10, 1988, seven players showed up to try out for the varsity basketball team. This was a gloomy start to what looked like a hopeless situation. The team had lost key players, height, and a coach.

Gradually things started coming together. The team increased to ten and learned a great deal from Coach Rose's experience. Above athletic success, he emphasized lady-like conduct and responsibility.

Foul shots were the key to several close games. Poor shooting cost victories against Essex and Rappahannock. But in the Lancaster game, the foul-shot percentage increased to almost 80 percent. Angela Garland was successful from the line (top left) throughout the game.

Denise Brooks, Tracey Carey, and Melissa Yeatman dominated outside shooting. Tracey was famous for her baseline jumpers (above).

Felicia Ashton controlled the Eagles' inside game, grabbing the rebound and shooting again for a quick two points (top right). Good passes (right) and accurate lay-ups led to crucial points.

The sweetest win of the year came against archival Colonial Beach. The Lady Eagles beat them not once, but three times.

Melissa Yeatman led the fast break (top left) and moved inside (top right). Tracey Carey broke the Drifters' press repeatedly (below). Felicia Ashton controlled the inside game (bottom left), and Denise Brooks showed off her outside shooting talents (middle left).

The season ended with a loss to Rappahannock in the district semi-finals. The Lady Eagles finished their season 12-7.

JV TEAM GROWS

*All is not well;
I doubt some foul play.*

Shakespeare, Hamlet

Beginning the season with only five players, all inexperienced, was a big disadvantage for the JV Girls Basketball team. Two scrimmage games were missed because of a shortage of players.

According to team members, the JV Lady Eagles focused on learning and improving basic skills. Coach Hines worked with her team to perfect dribbling, shooting, passing, and signaling.

Led by Michele Ortman, the offense (top right) improved significantly throughout the season. Rebecca Beale (above) often netted for three points.

The defense (bottom right) used a tight two-three zone where Tyla Thurston's height was an advantage in rebounding.

Charla Carey (below) was an asset in controlling the opening tip-off.

At season's end, the team had grown in number to twelve. All JV players demonstrated improved skills. Because of the experience they gained this year, the Lady Eagles are looking forward to 1989.

FRONT: Rebecca Beale, Michele Ortman, Tyla Thurston, Tonita Smith; BACK: Tricia Fauntleroy, Tammy Norman, Jean Owens, Beverly Dameron, Charla Carey, Latisha Turner

PERFECT SEASON

I may justly say . . . "I came, and saw, and overcame."

Shakespeare, Henry IV

The JV Eagles ended the season with a perfect 6-0 record. Their impressive finish was the result of good coaching and hard work.

According to Coach Jones, group effort and team spirit characterized the Eagles. All the players worked together to set a record unparalleled in the history of W&L.

EAGLES SURGE

*Give them great meals of beef and iron and steel,
They will eat like wolves and fight like devils.*

Shakespeare, Henry V

THE W&L Eagles were co-champions of the Northern Neck district in 1988. With an overall record of 7-3, and a district mark of 3-1, the Eagles entered the regional play-offs for the first time since 1982.

Seven players were selected to the all-district team: Jamie Fauntleroy, Ben Branson, Darian Hardwick, Dan Riley, Edward Day, Wade Chatham, and Brian Lee. All-region team members were Dan Riley, Brian Lee, Edward Day, and Ben Branson (below).

The Eagle defense (below left) finished the season as the #1 defensive team in the Northern Neck. The defense was led by team captains Ben Branson, J.B. Bryant, and Darian Hardwick.

The offense was led by Dan Riley who threw for over 1,000 yards. Backs Edward Day, Charles Roane, and Timmy Ashton carried the running game. Said Coach Sterner (far left), "The seniors led us to the play-offs this year, and it is our goal to maintain that level of hard work and dedication to repeat as district champions next year."

AGAINST ALL ODDS

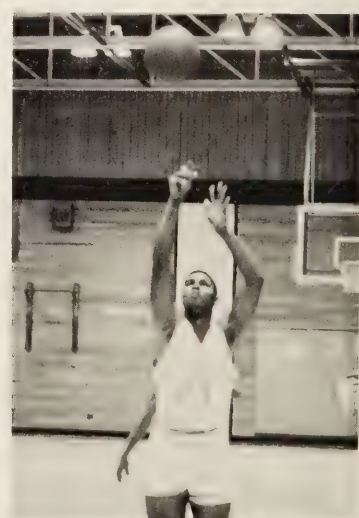

Fair is foul, and foul is fair.

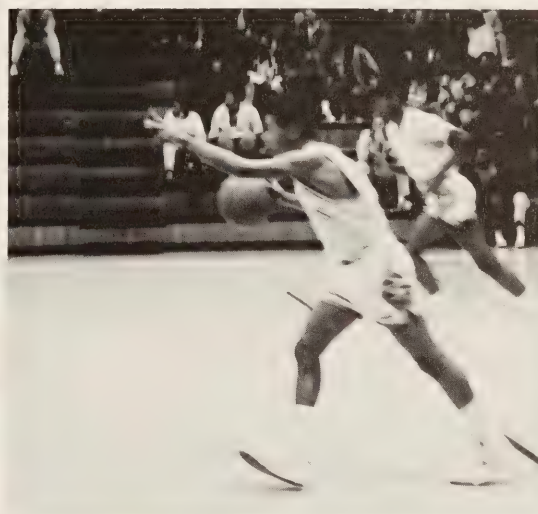

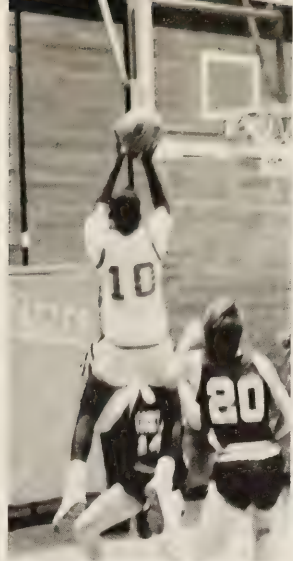

Shakespeare, Macbeth

FRONT: Anthony Tate, Cornelius Plummer, Jody Garner, Michael Fisher, Melvin Brown, Andre Wise, Jacob Plummer;

The Boys Varsity Basketball Team began the season with a schedule filled with AA opponents, but through the accurate shooting of André Wise and Leonard Usual (below), the team overcame its underdog rating. Consistent foul shooting (right) was a key factor in the Eagle winning streak.

Teamwork, fast moves, and good defense made the basketball team #1 in the Northern Neck District. Leading scorer Leonard Usual (far left) banged the boards inside and also scored outside. Jeffrey McDowney (top left) had a hot hand from the 3-point range. Bringing the ball up the court was the job of "Coach on the Court" Michael Fisher (left). Because of a great performance by all starters, the second string saw a lot of action. It was a true team effort that led to a season record of 17-6.

JUVENILE COURT

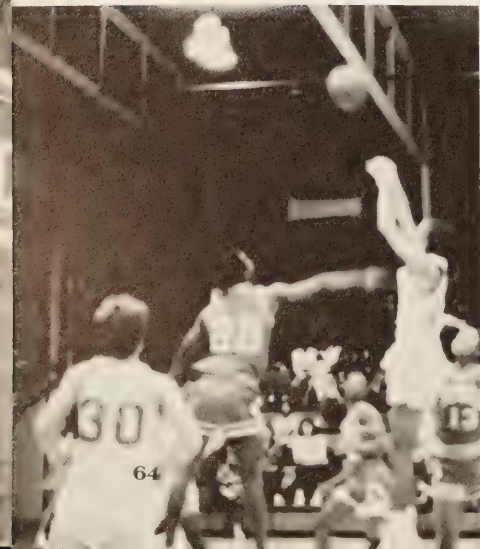

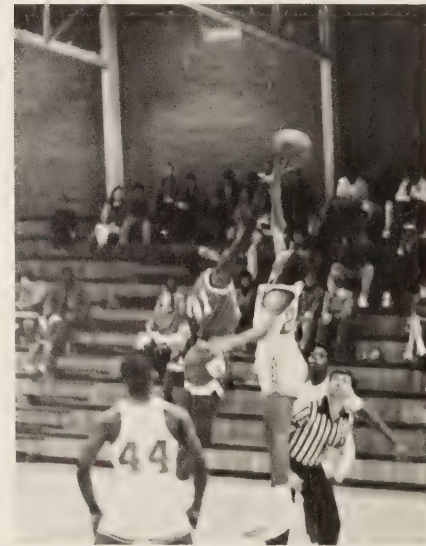

Tis a common proof, that lowliness is young ambition's ladder.

Shakespeare, Julius Caesar

The JV Boys Basketball Team was young but promising. Timmy Lewis (right) was a great pull-up shooter, and George Plummer (bottom right), an outstanding varsity prospect, had the ability to dunk. The big forward Bert Willis (top right) often shot from the low post to net two points. Being a young organization, the players picked up many skills and techniques which will be valuable in seasons to come.

HIGH SPIRITS

As full of spirit as the month of May.

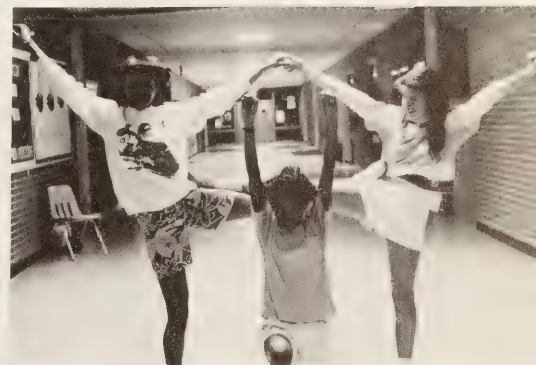

Shakespeare, Henry IV

TOP: Iris Carey, Alisa Clark, Kimberly Harris. BOTTOM: Shonte Campbell, Katina Fauntleroy, Nichole Parker.

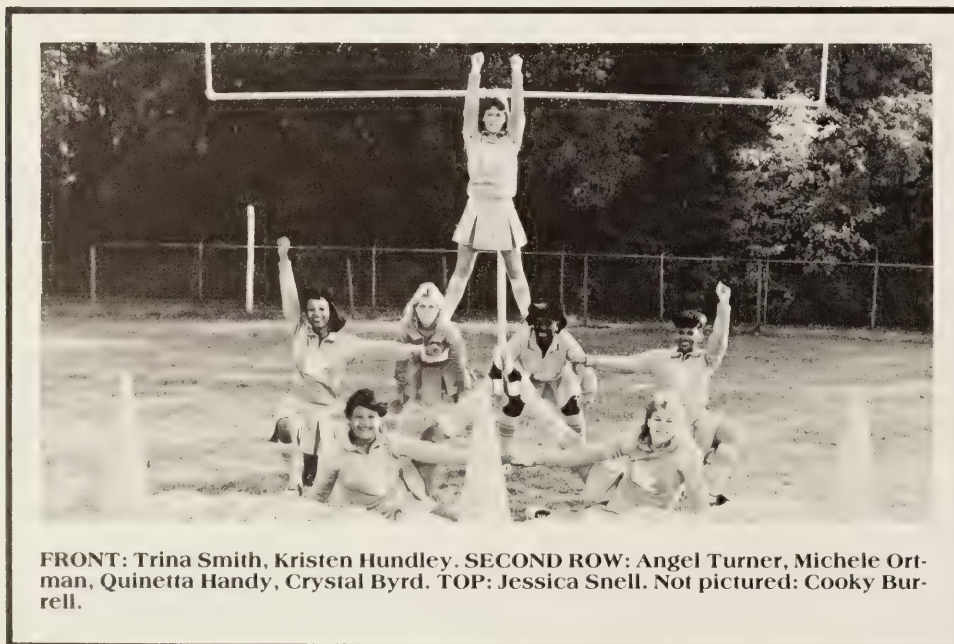

CHEERS!

Our true intent is — all for your delight.

Shakespeare, A Midsummer Night's Dream

From August through February, Varsity Cheerleaders spent hours practicing and performing. At games and pep rallies (right), through football season (below) and basketball season (below right), their faultless stunts and spirited cheers were crowd pleasers. When co-captains Angel Turner and Jessica Snell (bottom right) signaled a cheer such as "Superstars" or "Eagle City," fans always came to their feet.

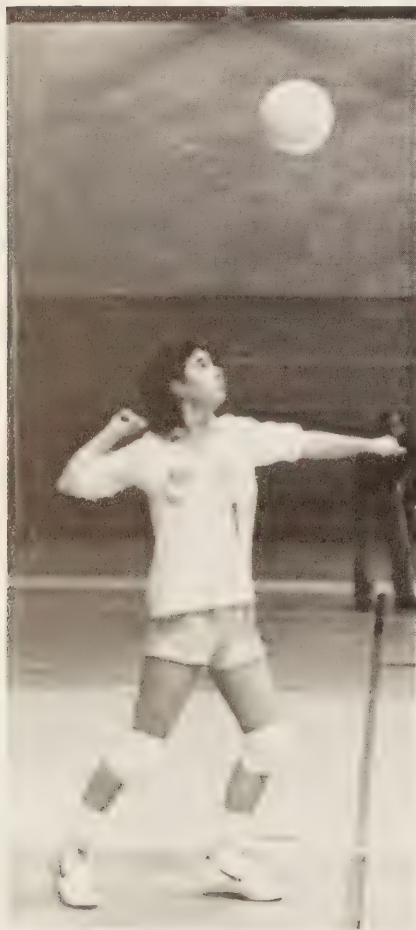

POWERHOUSE

Come, my coach! Goodnight, ladies.

Shakespeare, Hamlet

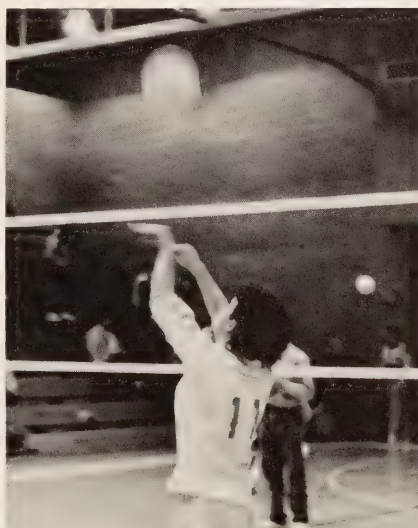

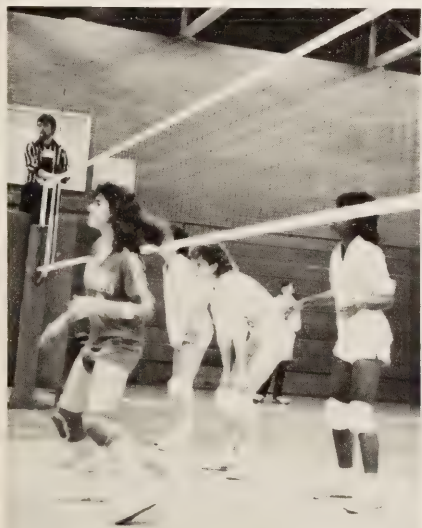

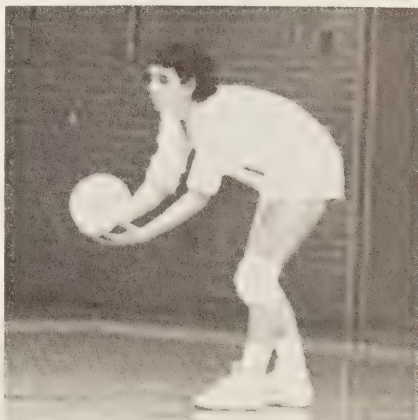

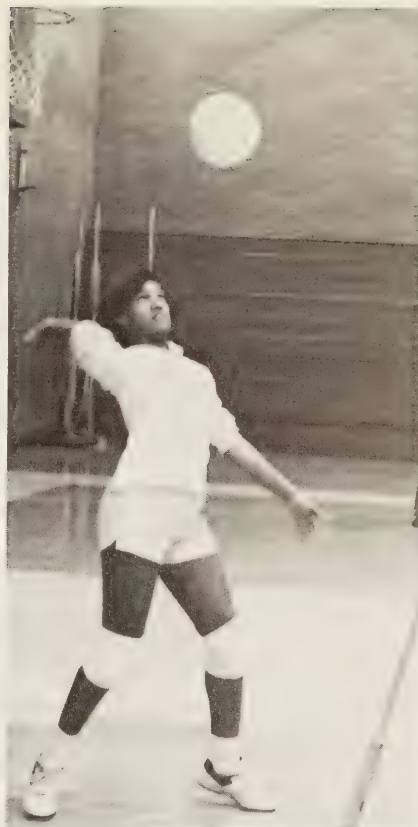

The introduction of interscholastic volleyball at W&L this year generated a lot of excitement among the girls. More than forty tried out for the team. The final sixteen worked hard to learn to play Power Volleyball.

During early practice sessions many of the girls showed real potential in several of the important skills. Because of this, Coach Seed settled on a method of attack called a "2-2-2" (top right). In this fairly complex system, the designated setter always comes from the back row, thereby making all three players on the front row potential spikers. The girls learned the system almost immediately, but found that putting the physical skills with that knowledge was not quite so simple. The soft set, the bump (middle right), the spike, the dig (bottom right), the "W" receive, the 6-up defense, and several other skills were fairly easy to understand, but hard to execute on the court with consistency.

The most critical skill, the serve (above), proved to be the team's downfall in many games.

Although the team lost most of its games to their more experienced Northern Neck District opponents, there were many times when the play was rock solid and occasionally brilliant. Few who saw it will forget the inspired play and fighting spirit of our Lady Eagles during their 19-17 overtime loss to Rappahanock (bottom left).

According to Coach Seed (middle left), the future for volleyball is bright at W&L. The talent and enthusiasm are there; the basic skills are in place. The consistency and finesse, which can only come from experience, are well within reach.

PLAYING THE FIELD

*To be or not be be:
That is the question.*

Shakespeare, Hamlet

Eagles who contributed to a successful team found that entry to the fieldhouse was via the schoolhouse. State law required that athletes had to prove themselves in the classroom before proving themselves on the playing field. Finding time for practice and assignments was not a field day for many.

Act II

CLUBS

BRUSHING UP

Beauty is bought by judgment of the eye.

Shakespeare, Love's Labour's Lost

Creating a work of art is a process that requires time and talent, and Mrs. Ransone (right) and the Art Club successfully combined the two. President Tiffany Barden (far right) and Jennie Mothershead (above right) were but two of many aspiring artists who prepared entries for the annual art exhibit. One of the club's service projects was to paint a mural in the bandroom. Preliminary sketches were made by Brian Sprouse, Tiffany Barden, and Eddie McAllister (above).

NOTABLES

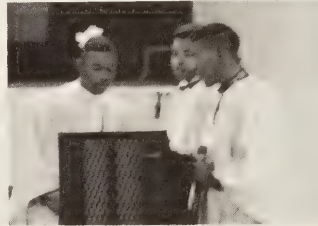

... And let the sounds of music
Creep in our ears.

Shakespeare, The Merchant of Venice

STATUS CYMBALS

*The man that hath no music in himself . . .
Let no such man be trusted.*

Shakespeare, The Merchant of Venice

Mr. Rippeon and the band received celebrity status in 1989 with their invitation to march in Paris, France. Washington and Lee was one of only two U.S. schools to merit this honor.

Jessica Snell, Angela Garland, Iris Carey, Kristen Hundley.

FRONT: Jackie Crawley, Terry Walsh; BACK: Lori Bevans, Kim Worrel.

GENERAL SCIENCE

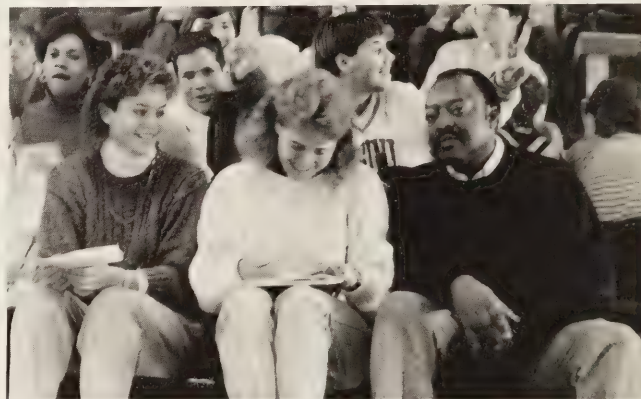

*Double, double toil and trouble;
Fire burn and cauldron bubble.*

Shakespeare, Macbeth

Science Club members attended monthly meetings (below right) which were supervised by Mr. Carey and Mr. Poell. Volunteer projects, such as participation in the Westmoreland War on Waste (bottom left) and support of the Bob Fox Christmas Fund (bottom right), kept members busy in and out of school. Annual science projects were a major undertaking, and Patrick Ingram (below) was one of many students who spent innumerable hours performing experiments.

COLLEGE BOUND

There is no darkness but ignorance.

Shakespeare, Twelfth Night

FRONT: Stacy Redman, Patrice Purce, Sheryl Purce, Stefanie Redman, Karen Lane; SECOND ROW: Pam Gaskins, Quinetta Handy, Jennifer Tate, Lori Laws; BACK: Donald Tate, Melvin Brown, Joseph Garner, Jamie Fauntleroy, Brian Lee, Kevin Carey, André Wise.

Upward Bound is a college preparatory program for students who show academic promise and are willing to spend extra hours in the classroom. Throughout the year, these young people work with their advisor Miss Kain (below). Additionally, they spend Saturday mornings at RCC and part of each summer at MWC. They not only earn college credit, but gain valuable academic experience.

BRAIN POWER

He was a scholar . . . Exceeding wise fair-spoken, and persuading.

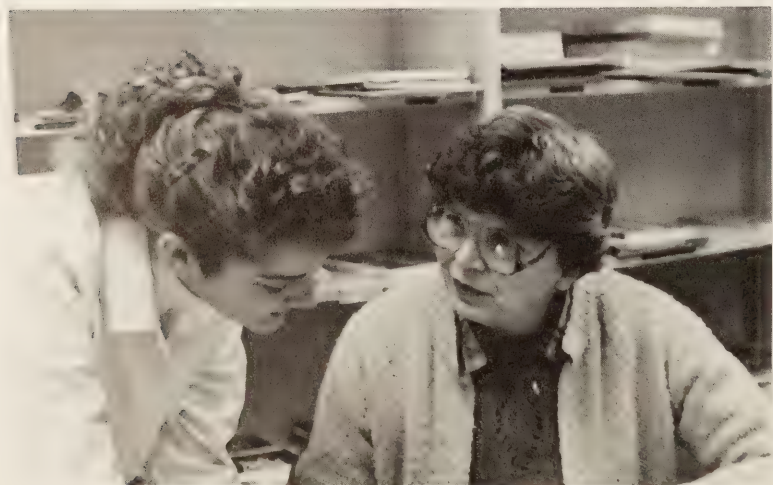

Shakespeare, Henry VIII

The National Honor Society doubled in membership this year. Fund raisers included selling corndogs and French fries at Fall Festival (above) and selling concessions at basketball games (below right). Proceeds were used to support other club activities. Miss Saunders and Karen Fallin organized an excursion to James Madison University (below), while the entire society planned a visit to Sunset Lodge Nursing Home (above right).

I'VE GOT WORDS

Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears.

Shakespeare, Julius Caesar

"Words that dog my heels, words for sale you might say."

Forensics incorporates a myriad of people and ideas. Jennie accused us all of being "too common," but we proved her wrong. As Melvin sought a "just government," Edward explored "crime," and Ataska had a "breakfast of champions." The macabre current events of Joey and Jean frightened Kevin so much that he and "Snadley" were destined to live in a bomb shelter forever.

Cathy asked, "Can you say nictalopia, Baby?" She could, and Kyle spelled it for her. While Karen searched for "uncomplicated hymns," Elizabeth gazed at the unicorn in her garden and exclaimed, "You are a booby, and I'm going to have you put in a booby hatch."

Under the guidance of coach Mary Ingram (left), this year's forensics team not only placed first in district but also in regional competition. This outstanding accomplishment was a first for Washington and Lee. Of the nine regional participants (bottom), five competitors advanced to the state level.

TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

There's place and means for every man alive.

Shakespeare All's Well That Ends Well

The Future Homemakers of America received honorable mention for the second consecutive year. Active involvement in numerous activities led to this special recognition by the state. The traditional mock wedding was highlighted by a double ceremony (right). During Fall Festival, the FHA float, decorated with the motto, "Toward New Horizons," won third prize (far right). Caning chairs (below) was a home improvement project, one of the goals of the organization.

DECA members are well known in the community for holding jobs and participating in numerous activities. Faithful members cleaned up Montross the day after Fall Festival (top left). President Mary Bullis (top right) received an unexpected visit from Santa Claus at the December meeting. The major fund raiser for the club was the sale of do-it-yourself pizzas during October (above left). Marcie Carey was elected district vice-president (above right).

Varsity Club consists of members who have lettered in athletics. Often their letters are worn on jackets whose sales are sponsored by the organization (bottom left). To earn points, the students must follow the club's guidelines to the letter. They participate in a non-smoking campaign (far right), attend games, and publicize sports events. Recognition of outstanding students takes place at athletic banquets which are really red-letter days for those who have worked hard (middle left and bottom right).

GET WITH THE PROGRAM

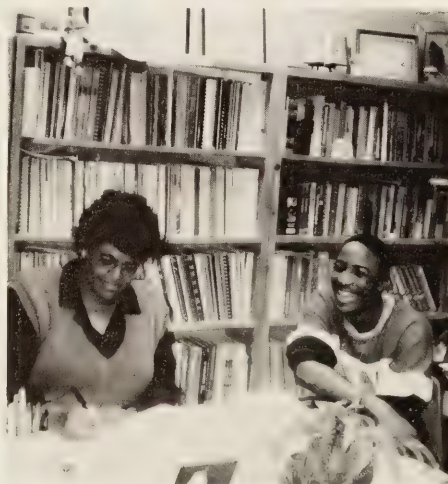

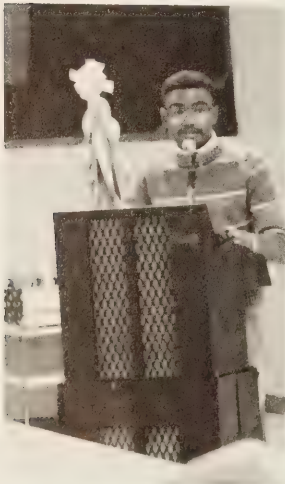

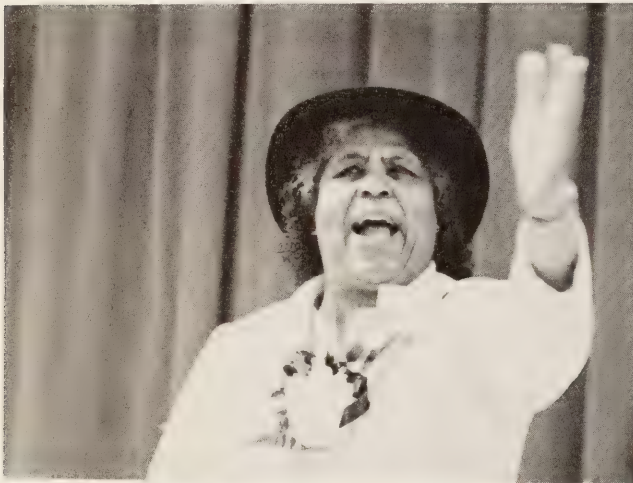

An outward honour for an inward toil.

Shakespeare, King Richard III.

The SCA led the school in a productive year as new sponsors and officers worked hard to inform and entertain the student body. Innovative programs and assemblies were organized by the officers (below right): Secretary Andra Thompson, Vice-President Joey Thompson, President James Tabron, Treasurer Annette Thrift, and Reporter Sherri Balderson. The association's original approach was well received by the student body and faculty. The Christmas assembly (bottom left) was highlighted by class competitions in poetry, music, and door decoration. The Black History program incorporated a new format in which groups of students moved to different locations to participate in presentations by community members (below).

FRONT: Mr. LeMasters, Andra Thompson, Joey Thompson, James Tabron, Annette Thrift, Sherri Balderson, Miss Wise; SECOND ROW: Patrice Purce, Sheryl Purce, Sharon Williams, Shelly Fisher, Sherry Schoppe, Kristen Hundley, Lori Bevans, Doretha Kelly, Fae Jones, Myrtle Fauntleroy; BACK: Tonita Gaskins, Marcie Carey, Mary Bullis, Kevin Clark, Jason Carpenter, Jonathan Collins, Dawn Ward, Eric Kellum, Marcia Wilson.

FRONT: Jean Greeley, Ardra Thompson, Sheryl Purce, Patrice Purce, Stacy Redman, Stefanie Redman, Miss Rutledge; BACK: Mr. Poell, William Schweiker, Kyle Gallagher, John O'Dell, Jonathan Collins, Kris Shadle, Patrick Ingram.

Super scholars finally received the opportunity to compete for recognition. Beginning in February, academic teams from Westmoreland, Essex, Northumberland, and Lancaster vied for top place. In a round-robin match like the TV program, students participated in district and league tournaments.

Under the tutelage of advisors Miss Rutledge and Mr. Poell, the Eagle team made a showing that is now part of W&L's proud history.

STUDENT LIFE

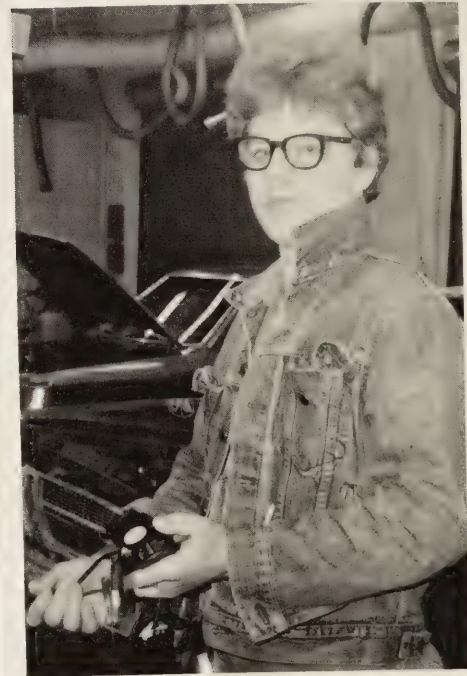

Getting Technical

Tis no sin for a man to labor in his vocation.

Shakespeare, Henry IV

The Northern Neck Regional Vocational Center (above) trains students to become part of the work force. Attending classes in two shifts, fifty-nine students traveled to Warsaw to take advantage of the varied curriculum offered by the center.

Because of scheduling differences between schools, vocational students enjoy a little free time before and after traveling (above and below).

Homecoming Crowns Festival

Front: Paula Johnson, Karen DeAtley, Patrice Purce, TaJuana Clayton, Marcie Carey; Back: Margaret Bevans, Denise Brooks, Melissa Yeatman, Trina Smith, Mary Ann Bullis

Preparations for Fall Festival started long before the weekend arrived. Decorated floats, perfected maneuvers, and organized committees resulted from careful planning.

Spirit Week primed the Washington & Lee Eagles for Homecoming festivities. Faculty and students dressed to promote school spirit. Daily themes included inside out, punk, fifties, blue and gold, and backward, as is demonstrated by Elizabeth Bowen (bottom right).

The Homecoming game against Northumberland culminated the week (bottom left). The Eagle victory was the perfect complement for Homecoming Queen Patrice Purce and her court (top).

The end crowns all.

Shakespeare, Troilus and Cressida

Eagle involvement and participation continued Saturday. The Eagle band marched in the parade (bottom right) and student organizations entered floats (top). Others worked in booths and supported school and civic organizations (middle right).

At 3:10, W&L students come to life. Their energy level increases dramatically when classes end. Whether or not they drive, most rush to lockers and then outside to get fresh air (far left). The dash to cars, trucks (top right), and busses gives time to finalize last minute plans (top left). A dedicated few get a head start by beginning homework assignments (left).

After a week of work, students spend weekends having fun and wasting money. Most everyone can be seen at the Dairy Freeze or skating rink. As parents see it, "The Freeze" is a bottomless pit into which students throw money. As students see it, it's "The Place to Be." Whether playing games in the skating rink (top left), betting on pool games (top right), or dancing on the tables (bottom right), the Dairy Freeze is rumored to have something for everyone.

Instructions: Count the number of A's, B's, C's, D's, E's, and F's in your answers. See which letter appeared most often and match it to the personality description below.

A) Wagon Rider — You are a person who gets into the latest styles, fashions, and trends. You try too hard to fit in. Go your own way!!!

B) Rappers — You like everything from basic rap to the latest Go-Go craze and the fashions that come with them.

C) Head Banger — You are wild, crazy, and original with a style all your own that no one else can copy.

D) Red Neck — You are an outdoorsman. You are a country person at heart and proud of it. You enhance your decor with rebel flags and indulge in country music. You are an original and patriotic person.

E) 60's Flower Child — You are very peaceful and concerned with the welfare of every living being. You are strong-willed in your fight to preserve nature. You tend to live in the past, but maybe that's where we all should be.

F) Chameleon — You like all kinds of music, dance, clothes, etc. You aren't picky. You blend in with all kinds of people. You are a well-rounded person.

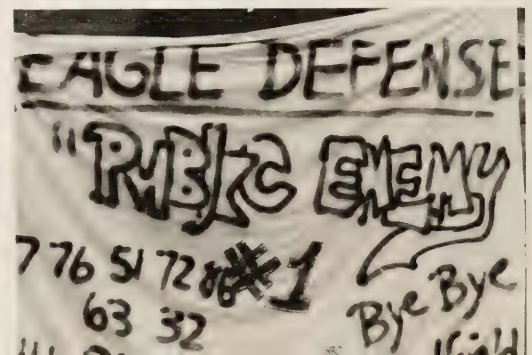

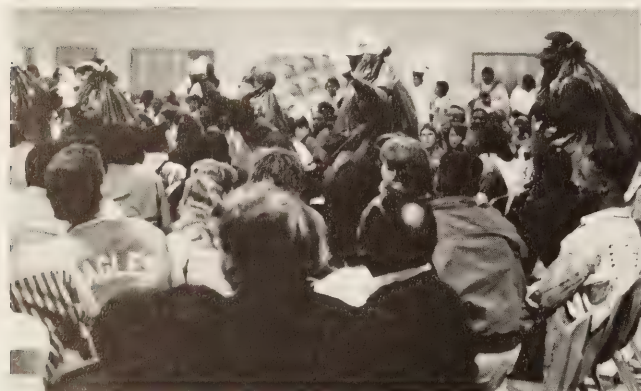

GENERAL ASSEMBLIES

Small cheer and great welcome makes a merry feast.

Shakespeare, The Comedy of Errors

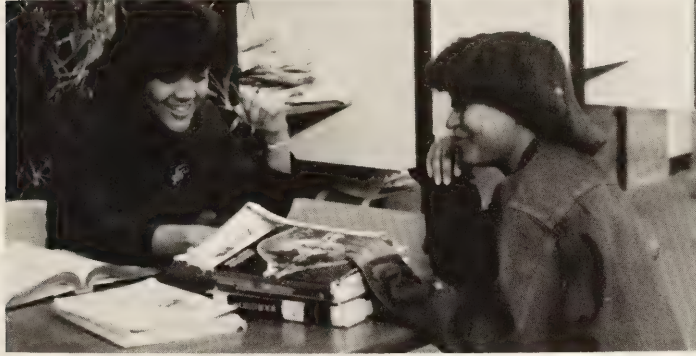

Although assemblies and pep rallies were infrequent, those we had reflected the varied interests of students and teachers. A resident of Hague, John Kernen, enthralled English 12 students with his lectures on European history (above). At pep rallies, class rivalry took center stage, and school spirit was left in the wings (top right and bottom right). There was high flying at the annual balloon launch (right). Teachers, a.k.a. the California Prunes, delighted the student body at Christmas (below). Prominent citizens, Mr. J. Brown, Mrs. E. Jenkins, Dr. H. Veney, and Ms. V. McCall, were guest speakers in honor of Black History Month (below right). Honor roll students (bottom left) were acknowledged by the SCA at the Thanksgiving assembly.

WHERE WERE YOU DURING CLUB PERIOD?

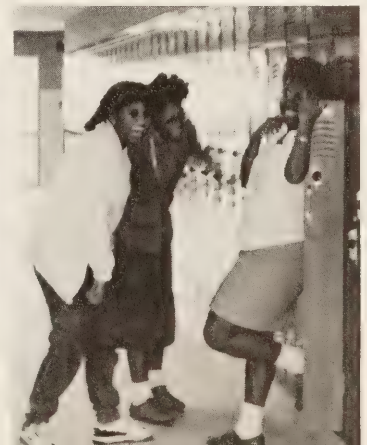

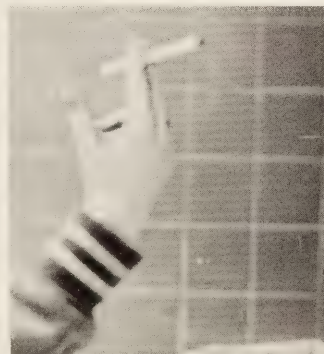

And thereby hangs a tale.

Shakespeare, The Taming of the Shrew

Although during club period there were numerous "official" clubs to attend, equally available were the "unofficial" activities. Where were you?

- on the phone
- at my locker
- getting a Coke
- in the library
- at the Freeze
- leaving school
- smoking in the bathroom
- anywhere but my club meeting

DRESS TO IMPRESS

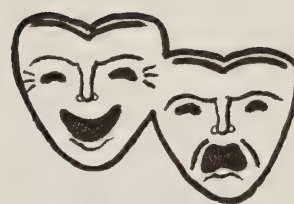

The fashion wears out more apparel than the man. — Shakespeare, Much Ado About Nothing

"Mom, I need some cash!"
 "What?"
 "Mom, I need new clothes!"
 "We just went shopping a month ago."
 "But Mom, things change."
 "Do what?"

Couture '89 was casual and costly. Designer labels, diverse fabrics, and imaginative accessories made for a well-dressed student body. Letter jackets were an old favorite (above), but the leather craze caught on fast (top right). Scarves become a fashion essential (right). Leather loafers — Eastlands, Dockersiders, Timberlands, Sebagos, and Portsidars — were worn by anybody who was somebody (below). The acid-washed, pre-shrunk, and distressed denim fad remained the rage (below right). Watches were seen in a variety of sizes, shapes, and colors (bottom left). The bottom line in fashion was individuality (bottom center).

Shakespeare, Love's Labour's Lost

FRONT: Amanda Plummer, Karen Fallin, Myrtle Fauntleroy, Karen Staples, Jennifer Greene; BACK: Patrick Ingram, Johnny Dameron, Eddie McAllister, Edward Baker, Ben Branson

The Top 10 scholars of the Class of '89 were not mere bookworms. Their academic superiority was matched by their superabundant involvement and leadership in athletics, clubs, community activities, and competitions.

The superlative scholastic performances of valedictorian Karen Fallin and salutatorian Edward Baker earned them near-perfect GPA's (top). Myrtle Fauntleroy and Karen Staples (left) were among the first to garner college acceptances through superior grades and superb achievement.

Patrick Ingram, Ben Branson, Jennifer Greene, Eddie McAllister, and Johnny Dameron (above) combined studies with the almost insuperable task of holding down part-time jobs. Amanda Plummer and Ben Branson (far left) exhibited superphysical ability in leading their teams to victory. Eddie McAllister's Aerodynamics and Patrick Ingram's Superconductivity were award-winning projects in the annual Science Fair (above left).

No doubt, these and other students of the Class of '89 will be supereminent in future endeavors as they build on the firm educational foundation gained at W&L.

STANDOUTS

The 1988-89 school year was punctuated by outstanding events on local, state, national, and international levels.

Though marred by tragedies, positives of the year far outweighed negatives, which resulted mainly from nature and criminals. An earthquake in Soviet Armenia caused the death of thousands, and terrorists were suspected of planting the bomb on Pan Am flight 103 in which more than 260 people died in Lockerbie, Scotland.

On the positive side, U.S. aid and cooperation were prominent in international endeavors which rescued ice-bound whales in Alaska and helped Armenian survivors. The subsequent withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan improved international relations even more.

Significant attention was focused on the Far East. The 1988 Olympics in Seoul, Korea were flawed by the drug scandal in which top athletes were disqualified for steroid use.

The death of Emperor Hirohito of Japan brought the world's leaders together in Tokyo. Among them was newly-elected U.S. President George Bush.

The November 1988 election was the major national story. Government students were actively involved in campaigning for presidential candidates Michael Dukakis and George Bush (right). Also making national headlines were America's re-entry into space four years after the Challenger disaster and the trial of Lt. Col. Oliver North.

On the state level, Virginians, having decided to cash in on gambling revenues that normally went across state lines, rushed to purchase lottery tickets (upper right) and voted in pari-mutuel betting.

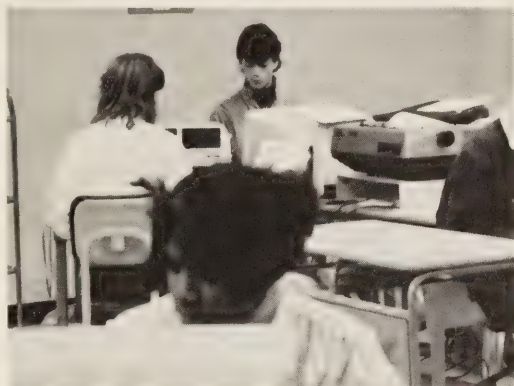

Locally, a major news item was the construction of the badly needed Washington District School in Oak Grove (middle left). In Montross, the Dairy Freeze was renovated by a careless driver who installed a drive-in window (opposite, middle right). This inconvenience did not hinder service to the crowds that flocked there after the Westmoreland Players' brilliant production of Damn Yankees.

On the school scene, Scott Standbridge made headlines by being the first to represent W&L in the Virginia High School League's Golf Tournament (left). Also newsworthy was the DECA club's success at the regional meet (top). The English Department led the school in activities to increase learning and heighten interest. Attending plays, participating in a Shakespearean workshop, publishing a literary magazine, and competing in RCC's Creative Writing Contest provided outstanding opportunities for many students.

Typewriters became obsolete as word processing became the norm in the Business Department (far left). The annual Science Fair was the arena where aspiring biologists, chemists, physicists, and mathematicians began their journey to state competition. The Social Studies Department, well known for lauding the past and perpetuating tradition, relived the era of knights, jousts, and castles during its yearly Medieval Festival (bottom left).

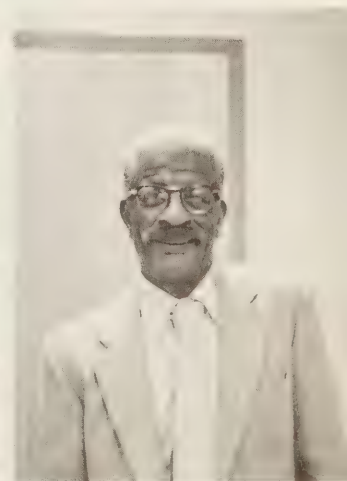

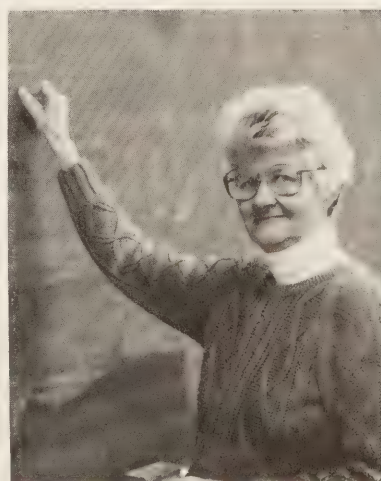

W&L was sorry to see retirees Harriet Ittner and Joseph Graham leave the school system (below). They consistently maintained high academic and professional standards during their tenure.

All in all, this was a year when challenges arose and were met, when problems occurred but were confronted. It was a year in which we endured the negatives and relished the positives. In short, it was a year like any other . . .

What's past is prologue.

CLASSIC FURNITURELAND OF VA

Cheap furniture could be really cheap. Let Classic Furnitureland of Virginia show you how to get top quality furniture at inexpensive prices. Top brand names such as: Bassett, Broyhill, Thomasville, Classic, Singer and so much more. Lay away any furniture for as little as $25.00 and you set up the payment every two weeks. Don't be fooled by half off prices. We sell our furniture below half prices every day.
